DETAILED ACTION

Preliminary Amendment

1. Applicant's submission of a preliminary amendment on August 25, 2006 is acknowledged. Claims 1-30 are currently pending and are the subject of this Office Action.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1 and 4-12, drawn to a method for detecting HPV in human subjects comprising detecting an mRNA transcript encoding the full-length E6 protein.

Group II, claim(s) 2 and 13-21, drawn to a method for detecting cellular changes characterized by cellular aneuploidy and enlarged cell nuclei in human subjects comprising detecting an mRNA transcript encoding the full-length E6 protein.

Group III, claim(s) 3 and 22-30, drawn to a method for detecting a persistent transforming infection with HPV in human subjects comprising detecting an mRNA transcript encoding the full-length E6 protein.

3. The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The prior art of Nakagawa et al. (Journal of Medical Virology (2000) 62: 251-256) teaches all of the limitations of the instant claim 1. Specifically, Nakagawa teaches an in vitro method for screening human subjects for the presence of human papillomavirus in at least one cell or tissue that comprises detecting an mRNA transcript that encodes the full-length E6 protein (see abstract and pages 252-254). Since the prior art of Nakagawa teaches all of the limitations of the instant claim 1, the claims lack a special technical feature linking them over the prior art, and therefore, a lack of unity requirement is proper.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to ANGELA BERTAGNA whose telephone number is (571)272-8291. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F, 9- 5.
